Integrative Medicine: A Clinician's Journal* (IMCJ)
Conflict of Interest Form

In keeping with the guidelines established February 2006 by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals), IMCJ decrees the following:

Conflict of interest exists when an author (or the author's institution or company) has financial or personal relationships that inappropriately influence (bias) his or her actions (such relationships are also known as dual commitments, competing interests, or competing loyalties). These relationships vary from those with negligible potential to those with great potential to influence judgment, and not all relationships represent true conflict of interest. The potential for conflict of interest can exist whether or not an individual believes that the relationship affects his or her scientific judgment.

Financial relationships (such as employment, consultancies, stock ownership, honoraria, paid expert testimony) are the most easily identifiable conflicts of interest and the most likely to undermine the credibility of the author(s) and of science itself. However, conflicts can occur for other reasons, such as personal relationships, academic competition, and intellectual passion.

All authors on a manuscript must disclose any conflicts of interest to the subject matter about which s/he is writing. Please include that information below (and fill out one of these forms for each author).

- -

Affidavit

As the/an author of this manuscript, I acknowledge having read the above guidelines and agree to disclose any conflicts of interest with the subjects addressed in this manuscript.

Author Signature: ____ Date: ____________

If you have no conflicts of interest, please initial here: ________________________________

If you do have conflicts of interest, please list them here:

- -

If this document applies to you but you decline to sign the affidavit, please initial here: ______________________
(You are welcome to state your reasons why on a separate sheet of paper.)