Integrative Medicine: A Clinician's Journal* (IMCJ)
Human Rights Form

In keeping with the guidelines established February 2006 by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals), IMCJ requests the following:

Humans: When reporting experiments on human subjects, authors should indicate whether the procedures followed were in accordance with any ethical standards set by a governing committee responsible for human experimentation (ie, if applicable, a university review board) and with the Helsinki Declaration of 1975, as revised in 2000. (Please see 2000 World Medical Association Declaration of Helsinki. If for any reason the link does not work, the website is: www.who.int/bulletin/archives/79(4)373.pdf). If doubt exists whether the research was conducted in accordance with the Helsinki Declaration, the authors must, in a separate document, explain the rationale for their approach, and, if presented before a review body, demonstrate that the institutional review body explicitly approved the doubtful aspects of the study.
